PRESS RELEASE (June 2, 2015)

Asian Ecotourism Network Establishes in Bangkok

A group of Asian ecotourism leaders gathered for the inauguration ceremony of the Asian Ecotourism Network (AEN) in Bangkok, Thailand.

Dr. Nalikatibhag Sangsnit, Director-General of Designated Areas for Sustainable Tourism Administration (Public Organization) or DASTA officially declared open the AEN office housed at DASTA's headquarters in Bangkok. He followed this by signing of a letter of support for AEN for two years through to June 2017, with a potential extension beyond that date.

The support by DASTA includes the provision of the central office to support operational activities of the AEN on 30th Floor, TIPCO Tower, Bangkok, Thailand, computer equipment, office automation facilities and access to meeting rooms.

According to the founding chair, Mr. Masaru Takayama - executive director of Japan Ecotourism Association, the Network will supply more hands-on connections and relevant opportunities for members working together at a regional level.

"It will provide more networking and business opportunities, significant information, educational materials and networking prospects to both small and large organizations within Asia.

The strategic plans of AEN will be set during the first board meeting on June 3. The prioritized projects will be focused on investigating the state of ecotourism among the AEN members and better serve as the platform for Asian ecotourism industry.

The founding member countries comprise of Japan, Malaysia, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Nepal, China, South Korea, Mongolia, India, Laos, Pakistan, Bhutan, Indonesia, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Philippines and Australia.

For more information, you can request to join the Asian Ecotourism Network Facebook page where the latest updates are shared among members until the official website is provided.
